It offers chalets, family/double units, luxury units, camping sites, and a communal house. The Mahango Game Park is located only 15 km from the camp and offers one of the best self-drive, wildlife viewing and bird watching experiences in Namibia. NWR RESORT RENOVATIONS IN FULL SWING

Over the past few months we have been quietly taking note of all the feedback from our valuable clients regarding the condition of our facilities spread across Namibia.

Our Managing Director, Mrs. Zelna Hengari, believes that, the feedback was instrumental in ensuring that during the same period, we made it a point to commit ourselves to repairing damages that were mentioned, within our means provided the meager resources at our disposal. "As we stand, we are working tirelessly to get all the challenges that have been mentioned rectified. We are of the belief that, by fixing the small things first, our guests will directly feel the impact as these are the things that matter to them when they visit us," says Mrs. Hengari.

A good example of this, is the current work being undertaken at our /Ai-/Ais Hot Springs Spa, which required some touch ups in order to make it more appealing to prospective Fish River Canyon hikers.

Another establishment that got some touch-ups was our Halali Resort, which had its popular pool area, revamped in addition to the terrace at the restaurant.

At the same time, we started rolling out Wi-Fi at some of our resorts with the intention of ensuring that guests are able to constantly stay in touch with their loved ones once they travel to any of our facilities.

Thus far, all our resorts in the Etosha National Park now have Wi-Fi, except Onkoshi and Olifanstus while other resorts such as Waterberg, Gross Barmen and Sesriem now also offer the service. The remaining resorts will have theirs installed within the coming months. We must however highlight that the Wi-Fi comes at a minimal cost.

NWR STRENGTHENS ITS MEDIA RELATIONS

Our Corporate Communications and Online Media Manager, Mr. Mufaro Nesongano had the opportunity to visit various media houses during the last part of July 2016. The aim of his visits were to further strengthen the relationship between the different media partners and NWR.

During the visits, it came out quite clear that our media partners are quite satisfied with our relationship. It was highlighted that the recent improvements at our properties are quite pleasing. At the same time, it was good to see that, some of them have visited a number of our establishments.

From our perspective, such engagements are essential in ensuring that we are able to engage in honest and frank discussions on the things that are reported within the respective newspapers and for them to know what we are doing to address them.

Mr. Nesongano strongly believes that, such engagements are vital in maintaining a cordial relationship with our media partners as they shape the nation's agenda and can greatly influence how we are viewed nationally and internationally, which has a direct impact on our operations.
